

J. D. SETTLE TO GET HEARING IN STOCK FATALITY

Countian Posts $1,000 Bail on Involuntary Manslaughter Count.

LOCAL RESIDENT HIT IN SQUARE

John D. Settle, 42, Seven Stars, was placed under arrest Monday evening on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Sara E. Stock, 82, who died last Tuesday night after being struck in center square by Settle's machine.

The warrant was read in the office of Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer by Sheriff B. W. Spence. Settle had come to the office voluntarily after he learned that the charge had been filed by Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler, who investigated the accident. The charge was laid at the direction of District Attorney John P. Butt.

Settle was released under $1,000 bail for his appearance at a hearing Thursday evening at 7 o'clock before Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer.

Said He Didn't See Victim

Mrs. Stock was struck as she crossed Chambersburg street at the square. She was returning to her home, 11 Baltimore street, after attending a motion picture show at the Majestic theatre. Settle was driving into the square when the accident occurred. That evening he stated to Officer Wisler that he had not seen Mrs. Stock until the moment of the collision.

Marks on the Settle automobile indicated that Mrs. Stock had been struck about the middle of the front bumper and that her head had struck the hood of the machine. The right horn on the front of the car was broken. The woman was carried on the front bumper of the machine for a distance of about 45 feet where the car was brought to a stop and Mrs. Stock dropped to the street.

May Hear Only 3 Witnesses

Her injuries included a fracture of the skull, a fracture of the right leg, fractures of bones in the right hand and bruises of the body. She died about 10 o'clock in the evening, 20 minutes after the accident occurred.

Probably not more than three witnesses will be called at the hearing Thursday. They may be a hospital physician, Officer Wisler and one of the youths who saw Mrs. Stock being carried on the bumper of the car and who later helped take her to the hospital.

Settle will be represented by Franklin R. Bigham, Esq.

Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Adams county coroner, intends to hold an inquest into the fatality. He said today that the exact time of the probe has not been set but that it may be held later this week.

R. C. FLOOD AID CLOSE TO QUOTA

Total of $2,465 Donated Until This Afternoon; Workers Sort Clothing.

With flood relief cash donations in the county mounting rapidly and giving every indication of passing the minimum $3,000 county quota, the second check for $1,000 was sent to national Red Cross headquarters at Washington, D. C. Monday afternoon. By 2 o'clock this afternoon $2,465 had been received at the county office.

While cash contributions continue to arrive, volunteer workers under the direction of Miss Anna Reck have begun the task of sorting, packing and labeling the mounting stock of non-perishable foods and clothing that is being handled at the local fire engine house.

By Friday it is expected that a car load of supplies will be on hand. The supplies will be taken to a railroad station here, where they will be sent freight-free to Ohio for distribution in the flooded area.

Supplies already have been received from Biglerville and East Berlin. At least two truck loads of supplies are ready to be brought here from Littlestown. CCC trucks have been placed at the disposal of the firemen who are in charge of concentrating the supplies.

The Red Cross workers said they are well pleased with the quality of clothing and food supplies being sent here. Much new clothing is included among the pieces being received. One canning factory at Littlestown is reported to have donated 15 cases of canned goods.

Red Cross officers again emphasized the fact today that all money received for flood relief here is sent direct to Washington, D. C., and that no part of it is retained here to cover the additional expense to which the Red Cross is being put to handle the extra work.

Legionnaires Send Clothing and Food To Flood Refugees

The first truckload of supplies for flood sufferers to be sent out of Gettysburg in the present emergency was dispatched this morning by the Albert J. Lentz post No. 293 of the American Legion.

A CCC truck from Camp No. 1 on the battlefield left for Pittsburgh in charge of a representative sent here by legion department headquarters. It was said here today that enough food and clothing for a second truckload will be accumulated at the Lentz post home within two or three days.

Legionnaires are well pleased with the response their appeal for supplies for the flooded area has received in the county. School children have contributed in all parts of the county and the donations are being gathered into Gettysburg by trucks handled by members of the local and the Biglerville posts.

HEARING POSTPONED

The hearing for Clarence Cross, colored, Gettysburg, on a charge of trespassing on the property of Joseph T. Galbraith, Cumberland township, which was to have been held Monday evening before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore, has been postponed until Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

"Sand Boils" Cairo Threat

(By the Associated Press)

Dread "sand boils," bursting up in the heart of beleaguered Cairo, Illinois, forewarned of a deeply undermined barrier guarding the flood-sieged city today.

Emergency squads rushed to the danger spot, putting hundreds of sand bags on miniature "geysers" boiling through the thin strata of protective surface over the city's foundation of sand.

Major R. D. Burdick, United States army engineer, estimated there were about 50 "boils" scattered throughout the city.

He explained they sprang from the terrific pressure of the Ohio river waters, slowly eating their way beneath the man-guarded levees and seeping under the city—to make it in time a virtual floating island.

COUNCIL SCANS '36 AUDIT AND PLANS ECONOMY

Expect Department Expenses To Be "Pared to the Bone" In New Budget.

LIABILITIES OF TOWN $106,528

Town councilmen studied the annual audit of the Gettysburg borough accounts for 1936 for a half hour Monday evening at their regular meeting and then adjourned to meet in two weeks with each department's budget "pared to the bone" by committee chairmen when the borough's budget is to be drawn up and the tax rate set.

Ray M. Hoffman, chairman of the finance committee of the borough, stated that after analyzing the auditors' report he found that the borough spent only about $5,300 more than it received last year and that a comparison of 1936 tax receipts with those of the year before showed that tax collections had fallen off about $6,000.

Calts Tax Receipts Low "That's what has caused our trouble this year," Mr. Hoffman declared. "We did not exceed our budget for departmental expenditures last year. Our receipts from the tax collector were simply way below the figure we had counted on when we drew up that budget a year ago. The thing for us to do is adopt the same budget and demand that our tax collector get the taxes."

Other members of council suggested that inasmuch as the taxes had not been forthcoming last year, it would not be wise to expect a much greater sum to be collected this year. Their proposal was to cut down departmental budgets to compare with the smaller income.

Seek Source of Revenue

That situation brought forth anew the proposal for the borough to find some new source of revenue other than direct taxation. One member suggested again the levying of a sewer tax and proposed that a special meeting be called for the particular purpose of considering that matter which has been before council on several occasions.

Members of council agreed that the last thing they wish to do is increase the rate on real estate levies in the borough, on the ground that it would simply increase the burden on the residents who are now paying the borough's bills.

Temporary Loans Total $27,000

Before adjournment came Monday evening Treasurer Martin reported that he was overdrawn about $30 on the general account. A check of the bills on the table for payment showed a total of about $2,500 needed to meet borough expenses during this month. Borrowing of that sum was authorized. That loan will make a total of $27,000 which the borough now has borrowed as temporary loans in the general and special funds.

The annual report of the auditors, signed by Carl S. Menchey, S. Richard Eisenhart and John W. Hewitt, showed total receipts of $100,814.87 with bank loans forming $61,000 of that amount. Tax collection formed the next largest item at $24,877.94 and the burgess collected a total of $5,784.77.

Expenditures by Departments

A list of the expenditures by departments and the sums appropriated for each at the beginning of last year follows:

Highway—$9,360.23 out of a budget of $9,000 (no allowance made in budget for WPA expenditures included in the expense figure).

Safety—$9,190.35 out of a budget of $8,300.

Financial—$2,019.38 out of a budget of $3,500.

Sewer—$4,588.08 out of a budget of $5,500.

Health—$715.70 out of a budget of $1,500.

Water—$1,495 out of a budget of $1,475.

Light—$7,225.66 out of a budget of $6,496.

Market house, $987.18 out of budget of $1,000.

Miscellaneous—$6,478.78 out of budget of $1,500.

Property committee—$1,067.38, with no provision in the budget to cover the sum.

Borough's Liabilities

Discussing what amount they might expect to have available for use this year, councilmen appeared to be unanimously agreed that no further grants shall be given the local fire company without special action of the council—and members appeared to be not inclined to receive favorably any requests for such appropriations that may be forthcoming from the firemen.

TWO BOYS ENTER HERSHEY SCHOOL

Sons of Late Louis Bushman Placed by Legion; Membership Reports Given.

Encouraging reports on the progress of the membership drive being conducted by the Albert J. Lentz post No. 292, of the American Legion, were received at the regular meeting of the post Monday evening. With the addition of one new member at the meeting the enrollment in the organization reached 163, a figure well above the membership on the same date last year, legionnaires say. John Assini, formerly of Philadelphia, now residing here, is the new member.

Commander Howard Sheffer presided at the meeting with about 40 members in attendance.

It was announced that through the efforts of the legion the two minor sons of Louis Bushman, deceased, who have been residing with their grandfather, William Bushman, along the Baltimore road, have been admitted to the Hershey industrial school. The boys are John Louis Bushman, 11, and Paul William Bushman, 13.

The service officer reported Arthur Q. May, Bendersville, a patient in the naval hospital at Philadelphia. Gratifying reports of the response being given to the legion's appeal for food and clothing for flood relief were received. Quantities of supplies are being collected through the schools of the county, it was stated.

Would Exempt 'Gas' On Farms From Tax

Representative Richter Sponsors Bill in General Assembly; Other Measures.

During the first month of general assembly sessions Senator John S. Rice, Gettysburg, representing Adams and Franklin counties, has sponsored three bills. Two of them provide for erection of an "Eternal Light Peace Memorial" on Gettysburg battlefield, to be dedicated during the seventy-fifth anniversary of the battle in 1938, and appropriate $5,000 as Pennsylvania's share of the project.

Senator Rice and Representative Charles H. Richter, Adams county's member of the house, have sponsored identical bills to appropriate $20,000 to the Annie M. Warner hospital.

Representative Richter has sponsored bills to exempt from tax the gasoline used on farms in agricultural pursuits; and to direct that half of the fines, penalties and bail forfeited for violation of the motor vehicle and tractor codes be paid by the state to the counties in which the violations occur. Such fines now go to the state treasury.

LeVan Reconsiders and Fills Council Vacancy; Committees Are Chosen

New Third Ward Member Directs Council to Destroy Letter in Which He Had Declined Office; Extension of Public Utilities Investigations Expected.

REQUESTS FOR ORDINATION OF SEVERAL BOROUGH STREETS HEARD

Meeting with nine members of council about the table for the first time in months, town council received the annual report of the borough auditors, discussed the 1937 budget briefly and heard President C. W. Epley announce a re-distribution of standing committee positions at the regular February meeting Monday evening at the fire engine house, East Middle street.

At 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, Alfred R. LeVan, former member and president of council, walked into the meeting room, greeted other members of the borough body and directed Secretary Ross R. Myers to destroy a letter he had directed to council several days ago in which he had announced that he would decline the office to which he had been elected by council last month.

He fills the vacancy that had existed since Perry J. Tawney resigned as a member from the third ward two months ago. Burgess W. J. Stallsmith administered the oath of office.

In the new appointments to committees, Councilman LeVan was given a position on three committees, including the chairmanship of the important sewer committee.

Explaining that he felt new committee appointments advisable because of the recent changes in membership of council, President Epley named eight standing committees of three members each, giving each of his fellow-councilmen a chairmanship and two other committee posts.

The most important change in committee arrangement is the merging of the water and light committees' duties under a "Committee on Public Utilities," which is headed by Councilman Fred G. Pfeffer, who has been leading the fight for lower electric rates here and who indicated Monday evening that the Gettysburg water company is soon to receive careful scrutiny from the utilities committee.

Hoffman Remains Finance Head Ray M. Hoffman remains chairman of the finance committee while H. M. Oyler succeeds Perry J. Tawney, former councilman, as chairman of the property committee. Mr. Jacobs was returned to chairmanship of the health group, and J. Price Oyler and William H. Scott again head the safety and market committees, respectively.

Councilman Pfeffer reported on a three-hour conference he held Monday in Harrisburg with a consulting engineer stating that within three weeks information will be in his hands on the proper course of action for Gettysburg to follow in its dealings with the Metropolitan Edison company and the public service commission and promised "startling developments" within that period.

Charges "Excess Profits"

Pfeffer pointed out that Metropolitan Edison representatives, invited to this meeting of council by himself and President Epley, were "conspicuous by their absence." Then, referring to the recent reductions in rates announced by the Metropolitan Edison company, Pfeffer pointed out that regardless of how much current is used under the domestic rate the reduction cannot amount to more than 25 cents a month. He declared that several residents have complained to him that their light bills have been higher, since the new rates were announced, than they were before.

"That reduction was only a check-valve on the excess profits of the utility," Pfeffer declared. "They made $516,000 more than they were allowed last year and they're simply arranging their rates so that it won't happen again. There is no offer to return to the people the money that was illegally collected last year."

Speaking before President Epley had announced the personnel of the new committees, Pfeffer urged that members of the new utilities committee should not overlook the Gettysburg water company, which he termed "more subject to attack at the present than the light company." Pfeffer predicted, and stated that he had reliable authority for his forecast, that legislation will be forthcoming at the current session of the legislature that will simplify the matter of establishing municipal light and power plants.

A special committee was named to consider an offer from The Gettysburg Times, placed before council by President Epley, by which a vacant lot at the rear of the present Times building would be available.

CAIRO IS GIVEN FRESH HOPE BY U. S. ENGINEER

Cairo, Illinois, Feb. 2 (AP).—The flood literally hanging over Cairo's rooftops wavered Monday night in its attack on this city, crouched behind ramparts where the Ohio meets the Mississippi.

"Cairo apparently is safe," said Lieut. F. S. Falkner, of the army engineers.

Slowly and slightly, the Ohio eased up. It wasn't much, but it was welcome to the weary line of river fighters who patrol the city's sea wall.

Lower Crest Forecast
Slower came the rise, creeping toward the eighteen-inch-thick wall of boards and earth that surmounts the city's 60-foot sea wall. With it came the heartening news from W. E. Barron, river forecaster, that the crest—due Wednesday or Thursday—probably will not exceed sixty and one-half feet. He had forecast a peak of sixty-one feet.

Those six inches may mean the difference between victory and defeat for Cairo, almost entirely walled in by water. The city lies from seven to twenty feet below the tip of the bulkheaded sea wall. Water over its top could sweep Cairo like a running tide.

No Relaxing of Precautions
Cheering as the news was, it brought no relaxing in the battle against the river, which flowed at 59.7 feet—only inches below the sea-wall's top.

Even when the river spans that short gap it must conquer the three-foot bulkhead to defeat Cairo. In that bulkhead are 2,000,000 tons of lumber and uncounted tons of tamped earth. Sandbags line its front and back and 6,000 like defenders patrol its every foot.

MAROONS FACE HANOVER HERE

Capacity Crowd Expected to See Arch Rivals in Action; Doors Open at 6:30 P. M.

What may be the largest crowd of the season is expected to attend the basketball game this evening between Hanover and Gettysburg high schools on the local court. A preliminary game between the scrub teams will start at 7 o'clock. Doors to the gymnasium will open at 6:30 o'clock.

Regardless of the records of the teams a thrilling and spirited battle is always assured when Hanover and Gettysburg athletic teams clash. Tonight's game is expected to be no exception.

Hanover has dropped four straight league games while the Maroons have copped three of five tilts to remain in the running for the league title. On form the Maroons loom the favorites, but anything can happen in traditional games and the outcome will probably be in doubt until the final whistle blows.

After jolting reverses at the hands of Mechanicsburg and Shippensburg, the Forneymen have stepped back into the championship running by handing a setback to the highly regarded Carlisle high aggregation. The Maroons cannot afford to suffer another league upset if they hope to remain in the conference race and will consequently be pressing at all times.

Eddie Gulian, of Shippensburg, will referee tonight.

In the only other league game scheduled for this evening Shippensburg will play at Hershey.

DICKINSON TO MEET BULLETS

Huge Crowd Expected to Witness Contest; Frosh Teams Meet at 7 O'Clock.

One of the most important non-league basketball games on the Gettysburg college schedule will be played Wednesday evening on the college court when Dickinson and the Bullets clash for the first time this season.

Still smarting from the upset at the hands of Lebanon Valley Saturday evening, the Bullets are preparing to wreak vengeance at the expense of the Red Devils.

Dickinson has played six games to date, winning three and losing three. Victories were scored over Moravian, Roanoke and Erskine while defeats were suffered at the hands of Army, Princeton and Villanova.

The Carlisle aggregation has built its team around Bill Kintzing, giant center, and Serner, guard, both former Hanover high athletes. Both are excellent shots and good floor men that presages a busy evening for the locals.

With a large advance sale of reserved seats reported seats are expected to be at a premium long before game time.

At 7 o'clock the freshmen teams will clash.

May Get Help From County
An effort is to be made to secure a sum from the county commissioners' liquid fund to assist in building streets this year.

William E. Biddle, chairman of the highway committee, submitted figures on expenditures in his department during the year. He stated that a total of $9,783.04 was spent and claimed credits amounting to $4,773.74, leaving a net expense to the borough of $5,009.30. The highway expense figures include WPA costs, Mr. Biddle explained. At the next meeting he will present a statement of the cost of WPA work last year.

LEVAN TAKES COUNCIL POST

as a public parking lot if the borough would place a covering of stone after the owners had graded the lot.

Suggests Ordaining Street
Councilmen J. P. Oyler, Pfeffer and LeVan were named to the committee to look over the conditions there with the borough engineer and report to council on the parking lot, the need for repairs in that section of Race Horse alley and the probable need for additional lighting for the lot if it is placed in use. The committee is to report at the next meeting of council. President Epley stated that he believes 200 automobiles could be parked there if properly arranged.

Council received a letter from James R. McConaghie, superintendent of the national park, suggesting that the borough take over Custer avenue, the extension of East Stevens street, and ordain it as a borough street. It was pointed out in the letter that a part of the street is now used to reach an alley to the east of North Stratton street between Stevens street and Lincoln avenue. The matter was referred to the highway committee for investigation and a report.

Health Report Received
A resolution was adopted giving the borough solicitor, Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., the authority to file tax liens for the collection of delinquent borough taxes on real estate handed him for entering by the tax collector. The same resolution gave the treasurer the power to pay the probatory cost in the entering of the liens.

The annual report of the board of health was received and filed. In the statement Eric R. Deardorff, borough health officer, listed 120 cases of contagious diseases, resulting in two deaths last year.

Council was told that two fire insurance policies of $1,000 each had expired and were ready for renewal in the Gettysburg mutual fire insurance company. One policy is on the fire engine house and the other on "fire hose reel and fixtures." Council directed the finance committee to investigate the property covered by the latter policy before renewing.

To Place Drain Pipes
The monthly report of Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith for January showed collections as follows: Building permits, $19; sewer permits, $150; digging permits, $431; driveway permits, $10; fines from the office of J. C. Shealer, $15, and borough fines, $4.

Councilman Scott called the attention of council to the fact that Calvin Shank, proprietor of the Gettysburg Hardware store, had paid $12 rent for the use of the borough market house for storage and display space for his goods over Christmas. The goods have been removed, council was told.

The highway committee was authorized to place drain pipes beneath the pavement at the Stallsmith and Y. W. C. A. buildings at center square to eliminate surface drainage and the same committee is to recommend to Willis Eckert the proper method of handling water seeping from a spring at his service station property on York street at the corner of Third street.

Approves Purchase of 2 Stoves
Council approved the purchase of two automatically operated fuel burning stoves for use in the drying house at the sewage disposal plant. The stoves were reported to be very necessary for use in the drying of sludge in order to keep the plant operating in a satisfactory manner. President Epley and Councilman Oyler both commented upon the excellent manner in which the plant is now operating and urged councilmen to inspect the plant and do all possible to keep standards there up to and above that required by the state.

A suggestion to place a police siren on the borough police car was discussed and referred to the safety committee.

Lieutenant Clyde D. Berger came before the borough body to ask that Fair avenue and two alleys in the southwestern section of the borough be ordained as a part of the borough street system. The matter was referred to the borough engineer and the solicitor for an investigation and report.

President Epley presided with Councilmen Fred G. Pfeffer, Alfred R. Levan, William E. Biddle, Charles T. Jacobs, J. Price Oyler, H. M. Oyler, William H. Scott and Ray M. Hoffman; Burgess Stallsmith, Secretary Ross R. Myers, Treasurer George R. Martin, Solicitor Bulleit and Borough Engineer L. H. Winebrenner in attendance.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: Count Vronski, who was blackmailing Anne Phelps with love letters, is shot to death in Anne's studio. Bigelow, the American from Paris, finds Anne and Karsanokoff, the glamorous dancer, starting at the corpse. They hide it during a party, then Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move it to Vronski's room. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, a wealthy chap who hated Vronski. When Dryden's wife, Lorna, vanishes, Anne and Bigelow determine to find her and set out on a tour of the night spots to check up.

Chapter 25

CHECKING UP AT MADGE'S

They arrived at Madge's place about 11 and got a ringside table for two, that had been reserved for somebody else. But miracles like that happened for Anne. And they had scarcely got seated when Madge Forrester joined them.

She was a haggard looking woman, very heavily made up, and she spoke in a listless drawl as though the effort were almost too much for her strength. She could never have been a beauty, but she was amusing and she had undeniable charm. "Darling," she said, dragging a chair from the next table and joining them, "I hoped you'd come in—sit down, young man. I know this seat belonged to somebody—but that's his trouble. He's nobody we know. Don't notice him and he'll go away. You might introduce me to your friend before he's rude to me—?"

"Mr. Bigelow — Mrs. Forrester," said Anne, laughing. "And he's never rude to ladies."

"Oh? Disappointing. I like 'em rude sometimes. Remind me to show you my bruises. But not here. What do you make of all this business—Vronski getting himself all shot to pieces and Lorna taking to cover? Not covers, darling, cover. . . . And apparently it all started at my place, too. I wanted to come over and talk to you that night but I was suffering with a couple of drunks that might have got out of hand if I'd left them and they didn't pass out for hours. Tell me about it!"

"I don't know any more than you've seen in the papers," said Anne.

"Honestly? If that bohunk bumps me once more I'll turn around and give him a look. I know I'm sticking out on the dance floor but a lady has to stick somewhere. . . . Do you think Dryden really did it? I can't imagine it myself. In this town you can get somebody really important wiped out for the price of a bottle of wine. And some people don't like wine. So why pack a rod? Will you tell me that in words of one syllable? I met a fellow once who had a printed list complete with prices. Union rates. He didn't care who he killed but Russians were the cheapest. And talking about Russians, that was a Russian who was on your party that night, wasn't she? What war did she start?"

"She's Karsanokoff, the dancer." "Yes? She must be something if she got all those jewels dancing. She's over in a corner with 'Woody' Taylor, now, wearing more pearls than you can put beans in soup. Don't go away—I'll be back."

Chet Quotes the Baroness
She rose with an exaggerated sigh and moved off to join some people who were beckoning to her from another table. A waiter swooped down on the chair in which she had been sitting and bore it after her.

"Does she always go on like that?" asked Bigelow curiously.
"More or less. She's really a professional entertainer in a way, you see. She's earned a living this way since the crash—for herself and her husband and four dogs."

"Doesn't her husband do anything?" asked Bigelow.
"Drinks," said Anne laconically. "Shall we dance? I want to see who else is here and one can get a better view from the dance floor. It's plain that Madge doesn't know anything about Lorna."

The dance floor was crowded as usual, but they pushed in and managed to remain on the outside edge. Some little way toward the center, Woody Taylor was dancing with Karsanokoff, holding her in the collegiate manner. Mirabelle Barney was also dancing with an amiable looking very fat young man.

"That's Tommy Tuttle. He writes society news and always knows everything before anybody else. God knows how he does it. We'll have a word with him," said Anne.

Halfway around the dance floor, they discovered Chet Harrison, also at a ringside table, but it was set for four. He was with a short, slight young man rather sullen looking.

"That's Nickie MacKann, the jockey," said Anne. "There seem to be two vacant chairs. Probably Mirabelle is with them. Let's stop."

They stopped and were warmly welcomed by Chet who introduced Bigelow to MacKann. Then he turned to Anne, grinning.

"Wasn't the baroness something?" he cried. "I mean at the Colony. I don't know why it is, but whenever the girls feel like making a scene, they wait until they have a date with me. Nothing will satisfy her but your head in the basket, my precious."

"What has she got against me?" asked Anne. "I've always been particularly nice to her."

"She swears you rubbed out her boy friend," grinned Chet.

"What?" cried Bigelow angrily to give Anne time to cover. Chet and MacKann glanced at him, which was what Bigelow had intended.

Chet nodded understandingly.

"I know. I felt like that, too. The woman is certainly screwy."

"She must be," breathed Anne.

"She Loved the Man"

"She admits she has no grounds for her suspicions," went on Chet, "but she says her intuition is never at fault. She says because you are rich, people are shielding you, but the truth will come out—I am to mark her words! She says in this country the only crime is to do as they please. She says the moment she stepped into the studio that night, she knew something was wrong. She felt it in the air. Oh, I had a merry little session with her at the Colony after you left. And even Dryden's arrest hasn't shaken her conviction. She says now that Dryden is shielding you and that that's why Lorna has disappeared. She's found it out and she has left him."

Anne sat gazing at him speechlessly.

"But if she goes about saying these things, she can be prosecuted," cried Bigelow.

"She'd probably like that," said MacKann.

"You don't suppose anyone will believe her?" protested Chet. "It's obvious enough—she was in love with the man and jealous of your Anne. That's all. Weren't we all together when Vronski telephoned? It was about a quarter to four then and the police say he was killed about that time. And Anne was still there when the party broke up which was long after that. No, the woman is just suffering from frustration."

"Just the same, I don't like it," murmured Anne. "A lot of people who don't know me as well as you do might hear her talk and think there's something in it."

"It might not be a bad idea to have your lawyer get in touch with her and warn her," admitted Chet.

"I will," said Anne, determinedly. (Copyright, 1937, Frederick Jackson)

TROOPS MOVE TO SCENE AS G. M. C. STRIKERS RIOT

1,200 Guardsmen Surround Chevrolet Plant, Site of New Sit-Down.

Flint, Mich., Feb. 2 (AP).—The One Hundred and Twenty-six infantry of the National Guard, 1,200 strong, moved Monday night into the Chevrolet Motor company zone, where more than a dozen persons were injured, two of them seriously, in rioting precipitated by a new sit-down strike.

Movement of the regiment, the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth, by truck began shortly before 9 p. m. The men had full combat equipment, including rifles, bayonets, machine guns and tear-gas guns.

They were ordered to clear all persons from the area around the Chevrolet plant and to permit no one to enter without a military pass.

Across From Body Plant
The Chevrolet plant is across from the Fisher body plant No. 2, occupied by strikers since December 30, but the troops were ordered not to interfere with them.

Monday night Chevrolet plant No. 4, the motor assembly division, was in possession of workers who had staged a new sit-down strike as the night shift of 2,500 employees entered the plant. Company officials said approximately 200 were engaged in the strike.

Meanwhile Circuit Judge Paul V.

Hands Out Praise

Ellen Wilkinson, labor member of the British parliament, is shown praising strikers at Fisher Body Plant No. 1 in Flint, Mich., for their fight with General Motors. She urged them to continue the battle. (Associated Press Photo)

Gadola, who heard four hours of argument by counsel for General Motors and for the United Automobile Workers of America over the corporation's petition for an injunction to eject strikers from the body plants, announced he would give his decision today.

Hearing Not Disturbed
The injunction hearing was not interrupted by the disorders, which occurred at Chevrolet plant No. 9, an employee said, when police attempted to break up a form of "inside picket line" composed of 30 union workers. The "pickets" resisted and the ensuing fight set off clashes with union demonstrators outside the plant.

This disorder, in which women wearing red berets and arm bands with the "E. B." insignia of the U. A. W. A. "Emergency Brigade" participated, was followed by the new sit-down at plant No. 4.

Sheriff's deputies formed a line inside a high wire fence marking company property some distance from the No. 4 plant, and frustrated attempts by outside pickets to clamor over and join the sit-down strikers.

Discrimination Charged
Robert Travis, U. A. W. A. organizer, said that the workers were protesting against what he termed "discrimination against union men seeking work at their customary jobs." In half an hour after the first protest started, Travis said, seven plants were experiencing sit-down protests with 7,000 workers involved.

Travis claimed an "attack" on workers in plant 9 was led by company police, armed with tear-gas pistols and bombs, blackjacks and clubs.

Several hundred men and women had rushed to plant No. 9, the motor parts division, from a union mass-meeting, where the announcement was made that "they are throwing a union man out of the Chevrolet plant." Both men and women were armed with clubs, with which they broke windows in the plant.

Claudette Colbert says: "My throat is safest with a light smoke"

"An actress' throat is naturally very important to her. After experimenting, I'm convinced my throat is safest with a light smoke and that's why you'll find Luckies always on hand both in my home and in my dressing room. I like the flavor of other cigarettes also, but frankly, Luckies appeal most to my taste."

Claudette Colbert
STAR OF PARAMOUNT'S FORTHCOMING "MAID OF SALEM"
DIRECTED BY FRANK LLOYD

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Colbert verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen, and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat!

An Evening Thought

Half-knowledge is worse than ignorance.—Macaulay.

Out of the Past

Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg
Times the files reveal.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Death of David A. Buehler, Esq.—It is our sad duty to announce the death of the Editor of this paper (Star and Sentinel), on Thursday, January 27. He died of a complication of diseases. . . . It is no exaggeration to say that in Mr. Buehler's untimely death the community has lost its most valuable and useful life.

His life was begun and spent in Gettysburg. He was born on the 2d day of January, 1821. He learned the printing business with the late Robert G. Harper, the editor of the "Adams Sentinel" and subsequently completed his college course. He was graduated with the class of 1843. In 1845 he became the editor of the Gettysburg Star and so continued for twelve years—until May 1857, when he was succeeded by John T. McIlhenny, to whom the paper was sold. Having been admitted to the bar in 1856, Mr. Buehler began the practice of law and combined with it service in the common school board, the town council, the offices of justice of the peace and post master and such other trusts as sought him. But in 1867, on the union of "The Star" and "The Sentinel" offices, under the proprietorship of Harper, McIlhenny and Buehler, he returned to newspaper life and became the editor of the consolidated paper—The Star and Sentinel—and so was at his death. . . .

Mr. Buehler found time to act as secretary of the Adams County Mutual insurance company and was an effective force in the Battlefield Memorial association.

Mr. Buehler's political views were a reflex of his character. In early life he adopted the principles and policy of the Whig party.

To the Theological seminary, to Pennsylvania college, to the general synod and to Christ church in Gettysburg, the value of his services has been inestimable. A more unselfish and devoted son never served a mother.

His mind was eminently judicial; his judgment was singularly clear and strong; and his mental action was as clear as the running brook.

E. McP.

Funeral of Mr. Buehler.—The funeral of Mr. Buehler took place at Christ Church on Saturday afternoon. The body of Mr. Buehler, after private service at his late residence was taken to the church at 12 o'clock. The services were as follows:

Beyond the Sowing and the Reaping—by select choir.

Reading of Scriptures—Rev. Dr. Hay.

Address—Rev. Dr. Hay, pastor.

Address—Rev. Dr. Valentine, president of the seminary faculty.

Address—Rev. Dr. McKnight, president of Pennsylvania college.

Prayer—Rev. Dr. George Scholl.

Asleep in Jesus—by select choir.

The remains were removed to Evergreen cemetery. Rev. Sylvanus Stall, Rev. John A. Wirt, W. L. Seabrook, Esq. (sons-in-law of the deceased) and William S. McCreary acting as pallbearers. At the grave the services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Hay and Rev. E. Breidenbaugh.

Personal.—George B. Montfort thinks of starting next Monday on a visit to his two sons who live in Los Angeles county, California.

Revival services are continued in the M. E. church every evening this week except Saturday.

Local Items.—The columns of the Star and Sentinel are this week largely devoted to reminiscences and testimonials to its late Editor, thus necessarily excluding some matter which would ordinarily appear in a weekly journal. In adopting this course we offer no apologies to the more than two thousand readers of the paper, who, for nearly twenty years, have received and welcomed its weekly visits, containing the productions of his gifted mind and graceful pen. These honors and tributes to the worth and nobility of character of their friends, we know will be read with a sad and mournful interest by all, and will be preserved by many who revered and loved him while living.

Guyon H. Buehler has been elected secretary of the Adams County Mutual Fire insurance company.

Col. C. H. Buehler has been elected temporary vice president of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial association.

The nominations of Jacob Aughinbaugh, Esq., and Wm. Arch McClean, Esq., as Notaries Public in this place has been confirmed.

H. J. Stahl, editor of the "Compiler" has been appointed by Chairman Cooper one of the delegates to the International Editorial association, which meets in Denver, Colorado, the first week in June.

Herbert, Henry Spangler to Miss Sadie McCreary, both of Tyrone township.Charity Hop.—In the pressure of last week we forgot to mention the Charity Hop. It was held on the evening of January 21st in the Rink and was a great success socially and financially. No attempt at decoration was made. Promptly at 8 o'clock the hop opened with a grand march, the dancing began with a waltz and kept up until a late hour. The G. A. band and Messrs. Tipton and Jacobs' orchestra furnished the music.

THE TRICK

I noticed as soon as I opened the door

That the fellow was surly, and so
With a frown just as black as the one that he wore

I angrily told him to go.

Now, I hadn't the slightest intention to be

As surly, uncivil and hateful as he;

But that was the trick that he played upon me.

Another chap came to my doorstep that day.

And a twinkle he had in his eye.

With a smile on his face, he began in a way

That prompted a gentle reply.

Though a stranger he was, I was eager to be

As gracious, good-natured and kindly as he.

And that was the trick that he played upon me.

Since those visits, I've thought in this life that we live.

And the lesson seems simple to learn.

We get back a smile for the smile that we give.

And a frown brings a frown in return.

If I chuckle, with chuckles I'll surely be met.

Just as I set my lips, so all lips will be set.

And that is a trick I mustn't forget.

On Guard as Waters Fall

As the flood waters of the Ohio river slowly receded, scenes like this one in Louisville became common. Soldiers stood guard over the debris-strewn business sections as merchants prepared to reopen their doors. Damage in the flood bowl was estimated at more than $400,000,000. (Associated Press Photo)

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

PAINSTAKING INTELLIGENCE

TO WHAT has the fine spirit of the careful artisans of yesterday migrated? I walked into a woodworker's shop the other day and stood there watching the skillful hands cutting designs and shaping rare woods. The boss told me that they had work ahead for months!

Mr. Henry Ford, in his great museum in Dearborn, Michigan, employs a large number of the "old masters" in craftsmanship, in restoring rare old furniture, buggies and whatnots, that he has gathered from all parts of the country. I have stood there and watched the men at work and it is an inspiring sight. Those men seem to pour the love of their hearts into the very wood that they shape and restore to its original beauty.

In Michael Fairless' book, "The Roadmender," she has this sentence: "The swift stride of civilization is leaving behind individual effort, and turning man into the Daemon of a machine. To and fro in front of the long loom, lifting a lever at either end, paces he who once with painstaking intelligence drove the shuttle."

The worker today drives his bargain for so much a day, not so much a job. And the builder takes his task "on contract" to be finished at a certain time. Not his to build a monument to his genius and love—but mostly to build a bank account!

I often think of the reply of that humble brick layer who was asked what he was doing. "Building a cathedral!"

Why do we love "antiques?" Because there is that patina of love to them. Painsstaking intelligence, long exhausted, yet living, radiates from the very grain of the wood. Years ago, when ideals and character were so revered, workmen found happiness in their work and built for the ages. A tall clock stands in my hallway that is 200 years old. The hands, the dial, the wheels, the hinges—each and all, made by hands that left their impress of love behind.

Our little life is but a span—all too brief. When we go to the long rest we take nothing of our accumulation with us—but we may leave much behind. Others have—and it is this by which we live and aspire while we are around.

ESTABLISHED 1914FREDERICK MAN
KILLS WIFE AND ENDS OWN LIFEDaughter, 14, Looks
On; Neighbor, 80,
Unable to Prevent Act.

Frederick, Feb. 2 (AP).—An estranged couple involved in divorce proceedings died of pistol wounds Monday in a struggle their young daughter watched and an aged neighbor tried vainly to prevent.

Greenbury F. Grove, 52, fought off his neighbor, overpowered Mrs. Grove and fired two bullets into her head and one into her neck. Then he shot himself twice in the head and fell near the body of his wife.

Their daughter, Edna, 14, watched in terror, screaming as the double tragedy was enacted in Mrs. Grove's home at Jefferson, near here. The couple's three other children were not at home.

Ties to Intevence
George W. Fawley, 80, tried to intervene in the struggle, but was unable to prevent Grove from shooting his wife. As Fawley ran from the house to summon officers, Grove shot himself.

Calling Sheriff Roy M. Hiltner, Magistrate Walter Sinn and State's Attorney Sherman P. Bowers to the scene, Fawley described the struggle.

He heard screams, he told the sheriff, and entered the living room. Grove was holding his wife on the floor and "pounding" her while she tried to wrench a pistol from his grasp, Fawley said.

Unable to Get Pistol
"I got hold of the pistol, but I couldn't get it away," he said. "He yelled: 'You go away from here and leave me alone.'"

"Then he got hold of my leg and twisted it so that I had to let go of the pistol. He put it up to her temple and fired. He fired three times. When I left he hadn't shot himself."

Mrs. Grove filed suit for divorce on October 28 and her husband was to have been cited Monday for contempt of court for failing to pay accumulated alimony and counsel fees of $34.

Couple Separated
The couple had not lived together since the divorce suit was filed. Mrs. Grove and her four children lived in a rented house at Jefferson, and Grove roomed nearby.

Friends and neighbors said Grove had threatened his estranged wife several times. Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Smith said he had heard Grove say: "I'm going to kill her."

Charles Grove, 16-year-old son of the couple, said: "He beat her not very long ago. That was why she wouldn't let him come back."

Threats Alleged

Mrs. Grove's brother, Donald Heffner, said he had heard Grove tell her: "I'm going to get you. I'll get you some time."

Authorities said Mrs. Grove had sworn out a peace warrant against her husband several weeks ago and that he was released on his promise to stop drinking and "straighten up."

Neighbors and friends said Mrs. Grove usually kept her house tightly locked. The kitchen door was unlocked Monday, Fawley told officers.

At the time of the shooting, the couple's son, Harold, 8, was at school. Charles and Richard, 15, both were working in Frederick.

SOCIALISTS IN
GRANADA DRIVEReport Advance Nearly to Gates of Stronghold of Spanish Insurgents.

Madrid, Feb. 2 (AP).—Government forces reported new gains on the Granada and Bay of Biscay fronts Monday while, except for sporadic artillery fire, Madrid was quiet.

Basque socialists reported their lines advanced on the Elbar, Ordina and Marquina sector, blowing up an insurgent powder dump on the part of the front called Kalamua. Official reports said many fascist troops were killed.

Fighting in the south was carried almost to the gates of Granada, government reports said, with important fascist lines of communication cut. Socialists said an immediate attack on the insurgent stronghold was not threatened.

Malaga Is Isolated

Dispatches from Salamanca said fascist troops had pushed within sight of the Mediterranean and virtually isolated Malaga from government held territory. Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano's forces were reported drawn up in a wide arc from Marbella, 35 miles west of Malaga, to the village of Otivar, on the mountain heights 40 miles east.

Only a small trip along the sea was said to be open for socialists' communications. If the fascist general cleans up the surrounding Mediterranean territory, foreign observers believed he could leave a small insurgent force in charge and throw the weight of his troops into the Madrid siege.

A few shells from fascist artillery fell into Vallecas, a Madrid suburb, but damage was slight. Socialist defenders of the capital bulwarked fortifications, particularly in the West Park sections, where government troops guarded new-won territory.

UNION STOCK YARDS

The live stock supply yesterday included around 1,300 cattle, 600 calves, 2,475 hogs and 230 sheep.

Cattle—The supply of cattle locally was of moderately light volume, while in the aggregate of markets there was a substan-tial reduction as compared with last Mon-day. Quality of the local supply was a little under the average of last Monday. As the market opened a few sales of steers and cows showed mild strength, but after that the trade turned dull and the general price tone turned steady to weak. All classes were sharing the dull, weak tone. At the close, market prices were medium-grade shorted lightweights and me-diumweights that sold at $8.50a9.50, while a couple loads of medium and good grade lightweights sold at $9.50. Many lots of common grade steers sold at $7.50a8, a few odd head downward to $7. A scattering of common and medium-grade heifers turned at $6a8, including around a load of lightweight medium-grade Angus heifers at the latter price. Most of the low cut and cutter cows cleared at $3.50a4.50, most common and medium cows at $4.75a5.75, a few head of good cows reaching upward to $6.50. Common and medium-grade bulls were noted at $6a6.50; a few good beef bulls around $7, light cutter bulls being quoted down to $5.50 and below.

Good and choice grade barrows and gilts scaling 170-225 pounds sold at $10.75a11, with the latter price the practical top. Most 225-250-pound weights turned at $10.40a10.80, heavyweights scaling down-ward to $9.75 and below. Most 140-160-pound weights brought $10.30a10.80, while 120-140-pound slaughter pigs cashed at $9.50a10. Good packing grades sold at $8.50a9.30, thin sows downward to $8.25 and under, good sows downward from around $8. London, Feb. 2 (AP).—Twenty men were believed lost in northern European waters Monday night as storms, unabated after more than a fortnight of heavy weather, whipped seas to mountainous proportions.

200 on Ferry Rescued
Many ships were frozen in the ice of the bitter Scandinavian waters. Two hundred passengers of a Swe-dish-German ferry boat, held for more than twelve hours in the ice, were rescued under difficult con-ditions.

Several Danish islands were cut off from the outside when ferry service was suspended because of ice. The United States steamer Cliff-wood reported she was standing by the Norwegian vessel Corona waiting for heavy seas to moderate before attempting to rescue twenty-five persons.

The Corona's steering apparatus was disabled by the storm and waves were breaking over the vessel. U. S. Ship Loses Part of Cargo Another American vessel, the Ar-gosy, reported loss of much of its deck cargo while racing to the aid of the Russian vessel Irtysch, which reported she no longer needed the aid she had requested.

Mild weather returned to the British Isles following the severe lash-ing of the past week.

Hauptmann's Lawyer Committed To Hospital for Mental Case

New York, Feb. 2 (AP). — Dr. M. Mortimer Sherman, a psychiatrist formerly employed by the city, said Monday papers had been filed for the commitment of Edward J. Reilly, lawyer, to the Brooklyn state hospital for the insane. Reilly was chief trial counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Reilly, the psychiatrist said, is suffering from a serious nervous breakdown and a "compulsion neurosis." "He felt something inside him compelling him to do things," Doctor Sherman said. "At times this compulsion bordered on a desire to assault. The Hauptmann case, particularly, prayed on his mind."

Doctor Sherman said the papers, describing Reilly's condition, were signed by himself, by Reilly's mother, by his law partner, Maurice Edelbaum and other associates.

Doctor Sherman went before Supreme Court Justice George E. Brower, who waived the customary procedure of having the committed person brought into court. Monday's brief court procedure, Doctor Sherman said, is taken "when it is dangerous for a person to remain at large."

Reilly was taken to the hospital Saturday. "Mr. Reilly brooded on what he considered the powers in back of the Hauptmann case and felt that they had sacrificed Hauptmann, an innocent man, to cover the misdeeds of others who were really guilty," Doctor Sherman said.

"He mentioned names as to who he thought were guilty. At no time, however, did he seem to have any ill feelings toward the prosecutors of the case. The Hauptmann case began Reilly's slide down the chute. His marital difficulties added fuel to the flames."

Reilly was married three times. Two of his marriages ended in divorce and the third in separation.
